PIANO FORTES.
A. H. GALE & CO.
TAKE pleasure in inviting the attention of Amateurs and the public generally to their NEW SCALE PIANO FORTE, just introduced. The rousing desire for a square Piano Forte that shall supersede a Grand in volume of sound, and, at the same time, avoid the unsightly and inconvenient size of the latter instrument, directed our energies to the production of such a desideratum. Our aim is regarded as successful, we submit the result without fear of competition.
These Pianos are all guaranteed in five entire satisfaction, whether ordered from the direct or sold by any of our agents throughout the country; and we solicit a continuance of our patronage which we have enjoyed for the last twenty-five years.

$1,000 REWARD.
THE Vesper Gas Fixtures have been very generally used at the East for two years past without a single accident. No! Not one has ever been heard of. Notwithstanding the simplicity of the wonderful light they have had a standing Reward of $5 00 for the proof of an explosion, no one has ever come forward to claim it. To set all doubt at rest in Kentucky, where this light has been in use for only 6 or 7 months, as to its entire safety, the undersigned hereby offers a reward of Five Hundred Dollars, to be paid on proof of an explosion of the Vesper Fixtures when used as ordered.
Entire satisfaction guaranteed to all who may buy the Vesper Fixtures. Any one buying this apparatus and after trial will find it will not do have the privilege of returning the article.
All are invited to call at No. 6 Masonic Temple and buy no other apparatus.

MEDICAL.

TARRANT'S
EFFERVESCENT
SELTZER APERIENT.
This valuable and popular Medicine, prepared in conformity with the analysis of the waters of the celebrated Seidlitz Springs, in Germany, in a most convenient and portable form, has universally received the most favorable recommendations of the Medical Profession and a liberating Public as the
MOST EFFICIENT AND AGREEABLE
Saline Aperient
ever offered to the public.
It is particularly adapted to the wants of Travelers by Sea and Land, Residents in Hot Climates, Persons of Sedentary Habits, Invalids, and Convalescents; Captains of Vessels and Planters will find it a valuable addition to their Medicine Chests.
With those who have used it, it has high favor and is deemed indispensable.
IN A TORPID STATE OF THE LIVER—It renders great service in restoring healthy action.
IN GOUT AND RHEUMATISM—It gives the best satisfaction, allaying all inflammatory symptoms, and in many cases effectually curing those afflicted.
ITS SUCCESS IN CASES OF GRAVEL, INDIGESTION, DELIRIUM, AND COSTIVENESS—Proves it to be a Medicine of the greatest utility.
ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, AND THE DISTRESSING SICKNESS SO USUAL DURING PREGNANCY—Yields speedily, and with marked success under its healthful influence.
IT AFFORDS THE GREATEST RELIEF TO THOSE AFFLICTED WITH OR SUBJECT TO THE PILES—ACTING gently on the bowels, neutralizing all irritating secretions, and thereby removing all inflammatory tendencies.
IN FACT, IT IS INVALUABLE IN ALL CASES WHERE A GENTLE APERIENT OR PURGATIVE IS REQUIRED.
It is in the form of a Powder, carefully put up in bottles, to keep in any climate, and merely requires water poured upon it to produce a delightful effervescent beverage.
Taken in the morning, it never interferes with the avocations of the day, acting gently on the system, restoring the digestive powers, exciting a healthy and vigorous tone of the stomach, and thereby invigorating the mind and body with fresh vigor sent to every enjoyment. It also enables the invalid to enjoy many luxuries at his command from which he must otherwise be debarred, and without which life is irksome and distasteful.
Numerous testimonials from professional and other gentlemen of the highest standing throughout the country, and for steadily increasing sales, can be furnished.

DR. EOFF'S
TONIC & ANTI-DYSPEPTIC PILLS.
THESE pills are offered to the public after many years experience of their valuable properties, as a safe and reliable family medicine. They operate gently as a purgative, cleansing the stomach and intestines of all irritating matter, without producing sickness or debilitating the digestive organs.
For dyspepsia and all the distressing symptoms attending this disease, they have no equal. Acidity of the stomach, flatulence, loss of appetite, nervous affections, &c., these pills are a sure remedy. Persons of sedentary habits suffering from derangement of the liver, or general debility of the system, they will prove an invaluable medicine.
For sale by S. S. Morris & Sons, sole agents, Louisville, Kentucky.

DR. LA CROIX'S
PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE ON THE PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE.
250 Pages and Fine Plain and Colored Lithographs.
PRICE ONLY TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.
Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union.

ON the infirmities of youth and manhood, the consequences of which befall those of all ages, causing debility, nervousness, depression of spirits, palpitation of the heart, nocturnal imaginations, involuntary blushing, pain in the back, weakness of digestion, and lassitude, &c., comprising 250 pages, and illustrated with upwards of one hundred and thirty engravings. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and prospects of which every human being is entitled.
Young men who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, are cautioned against the disastrous, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak eyes, weakness of the back and lower extremities, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melancholy, may be cured by the author's NEW PARIS AND LONDON TREATMENT.
We have, for the greater part of the past year, devoted our time to the study of those DISEASES AND AFFECTATIONS, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most eminent Physicians in Europe and on the Continent—such men as CIVIALE, LENOIR, RICORD, BRECHETEAU, ACTON, and CURLINGS of the French and English Schools. Our tour extended through France, Italy, Germany, Holland, England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, visiting in our progress the principal Hospitals in Paris, London, Rome, Venice, Vienna, Dresden, Berlin, &c., &c. We have been amply repaid by the additional knowledge acquired by the establishment of various diseases to which we have directed our attention. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many NEW AND EFFICACIOUS REMEDIES we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured, with the same zeal, assiduity, SECRECY, and attention being paid to their cases, which has ever been the cardinal feature heretofore, as a Physician in our PECULIAR department of professional practice.

TUESDAY, JULY 26, 1859.

ONE DAY TO YOUR COUNTRY.—Next Monday, fellow citizens of Kentucky, is the day on which you will be called to decide whether, by your free consent, the corrupt, double-faced, disorganizing, extravagant, wasteful, sectional, party-mad Democracy shall rule in this Commonwealth and continue to rule in the Union, or whether, so far as your might extends, that headlong and revolutionary party shall be overthrown and scourged into a merited minority here and elsewhere. The question is a momentous one. Its bearings, fraught with vital consequence, spread on all sides, and reach far into the future. Seldom, perhaps never, has Kentucky been called to decide a question of more signal and solemn moment.

All thoughtful political observers admit, the most unthinking and careless citizen must, indeed, perceive, that the politics of the nation are on the point of undergoing a change, which, for good or evil, must seriously affect the nation's future history and destiny. Our country, as respects its domestic relations, and in hardly a less degree its position among the nations of the earth, is passing into a critical stage of development. The Republic is on the eve of its severest trial. The capacity of the people for self-government is about to be put to its sharpest test. Heretofore, we have had unequaled political leaders, statesmen who by common consent stood out from the mass of our public men and towered above them, patriots and legislators of such manifest and recognized superiority that the nation instinctively divided off under their leadership, and, to a larger measure than the most of us would like to own, entrusted its thinking to them. We have up to this period leaned on our great statesmen. They have battled with each other on the theater of the nation in our name, and we have adopted their thoughts and seconded their acts. Scarcely more. We have confided in a few lofty political geniuses rather than in ourselves. Now, for the first time in the history of the government, we have no lofty political geniuses in whom to confide. Our great statesmen are gone. Public men of high ability and of undoubted patriotism we have, it is true, but of the race of political giants not one. Those born leaders and creators of public sentiment, whose unrivaled force of sagacity and weight of character organized the people spontaneously about them, have left the stage, and they have no successors. We are thrown suddenly back on ourselves. Fortune has thrust the people on their own resources. It has struck down their mighty, illustrious supports, and left them to stand or fall alone. In a sense never realised before, the people of this country now have, under Providence, nothing but their own virtue and intelligence to rely on.

It is, Kentuckians, at this eventful juncture in the history of the nation, just at this turning point in the nation's life, that a party whose devotion to the public interests you distrusted wisely in its palmiest and purest days, a party at present demoralized by power and maddened by avarice and ambition beyond all depths of demoralization and of madness ever yet attained by it, presents itself to you in the persons of its leaders, and, by appeals to the most dangerous instincts and passions of our common nature, instincts and passions which a rational and virtuous people would strive above all things to curb and subdue, seeks to win not only your approval of its dark and damning iniquities in their utmost stretch of development, but your positive consent to the continuance and even the extension of its ill-gotten and ill-used ascendency in the government. At a moment when it is of the very last importance that virtue and intelligence should assert themselves in the public councils, when, so far as human vision can penetrate, nothing but their prompt and vigorous assertion can preserve the Republic, the Democracy, reeking with corruption, and damning the most false and anarchical principles in your faces, asks you, on the strength of its promise to amend the other half of this continent and overrun the rest of the globe, to endorse its doctrines and its deeds, and renew and extend its power. Fellow citizens, will you do it? Can you do it? Are you to be tempted to commit so enormous a public fault by such a strain in the mouth of such a Siren? Are you so shallow, so simple, so hairbrained, so reckless, so possessed as this? Are you insane enough to drink the Circean cup with a full knowledge of the magic poison it contains?

If you are not, then dash it to the earth next Monday, and proclaim yourselves still patriots and loyal sons of this noble Commonwealth, and not the minions of ambition and corruption the poisoned draught would make you. Dash down the cup, and, bear ye men in the thus Ulysses, slay the goddess. Clemency to vice is cruelty to virtue. Make clean work of the Democracy. Overthrow it at all points. Rout it, horse, foot, and dragoons. Let its defeat be sweeping and so we believe it. Vanquish it utterly. Eradicate it. Do this, fellow-citizens, furnish this decisive evidence of your public virtue and intelligence and of your ability as well as your determination to take a leading part in putting down on the field of the Union the enemies of these great preservative elements of the national weal, and the first step toward that glorious consummation will be secure. Do this, next Monday, Kentuckians, and your brethren in Tennessee, catching the spirit of victory from you, will on the following Thursday push the cause one step further, and install its perfect triumph among the certainties of the early future. Do this, and the rule or miracle of the Democracy is broken as if by a charm, and a cloud black with evil to the people and to the Union, now hovering portentously on the front of the future, will disperse like a vapor before the beams of the Morning.

And, citizens of Kentucky, you can do this, you will do it, if you, ALL OF YOU, go to the polls next Monday and vote as you think and feel. And we entreat you solemnly to do so. Fail not, we implore you. Give but this one day sincerely to your country, and the blessings of true patriots everywhere will consecrate what victory crowns. The issue, under God, is in your hands.

☞ The Courier says that "the Democratic party is the only national party." Now the Courier habitually denounces Mr. Douglas as a false traitor and a dirty Abolitionist, yet it is notorious that the whole mass of the Democracy of the nine slaveholding States, that is to say a majority of all the States of the Union, not only sustain Mr. Douglas in the position that has provoked the wrath of the Courier but prefer him to any and all other candidates for the Presidency.

The Democratic State Convention of Ohio endorsed by acclamation Mr. Douglas's position on the Territorial question. The Democracy of Illinois have all along been virtually unanimous upon the subject. The late Democratic Conventions of Iowa, Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont have unbodied in their platforms his whole Territorial heresy and endorsed the position taken by him in the Senate last winter in his conflict with the administration. Indeed there has not been a Democratic State, district, or county convention, or a Democratic Legislature, or a Democratic popular meeting, or a prominent Democratic candidate for office, in any non-slave-holding State, that has dared to express the slightest dissent from the doctrines, which, according to the Louisville Courier, constitute Mr. Douglas the basest of traitors and the dirtiest of Abolitionists. The whole of the Democracy of a majority of the States of the Union are unquestionably and heartily with the Illinois Senator in the maintenance of these doctrines.

And now we take the liberty of asking the Louisville Courier and its friends what sort of a "national party" the Democratic party is, when the whole of the Northern and larger section of it is devoted to the basest treason and the dirtiest Abolitionism. Is that a "national party," more than one entire half of which consists of base traitors and dirty Abolitionists?

☞ This is the last time we can address our country readers before the election, and we wish, from our hearts, that we could make the few remarks, which we have to make, correspond in earnestness and depth and solemnity of tone with the importance of the occasion. Few, very few, can appreciate that importance; none, we are sure, can overestimate it. The issues of the elections about to take place in Kentucky and Tennessee are not unlikely to decide the political destinies of the nation for long, long years to come. If the Opposition in these two great States shall do what the results of the recent election in Virginia show can be done, we firmly believe that the reign of the pestilent and unprincipled Democracy will, at the approaching Presidential election, be subverted forever. Myriads of men of all parties throughout the nation believe this as earnestly as we do, and, believing it, they are looking to the events of Monday next with the deepest and most absorbing interest.

Our friends may well be aroused throughout Kentucky, and we are confident that they are aroused. Most assuredly they never before had so much to excite and impel and warn and exasperate them in a political canvass as they have now, for they never before battled against such open and shameless and stupendous profligacy. In all past times political profligacy in high places and in low places has at least attempted to hide or disguise its loathsome features, but now it stalks abroad in all the naked hideousness of its horrible deformity. It is a Medusa without his mask. Upon the words spoken at the ballot-box on Monday next depend the nation's purity, prosperity, happiness, and life. The people of Kentucky are to decide for themselves and in a great measure for the whole Republic the issues of the great conflict raging throughout the country. We are to decide whether we will or will not sustain an Administration which from the very first day of its inauguration has been guilty of the most tremendous and monstrous extravagance ever dreamed of in the history of this or any other Republic on earth; whether we will or will not tolerate and sanction the most accursed and barefaced corruption that ever reared its "miserated front" in the midst of an enlighted people; whether we will or will not give countenance to the project of placing in the hands of the Executive more than double the amount of the entire expenditures of the Republic in its better days of need for secret purposes and without responsibility to any power or authority whatever; whether we will or will not consent to see the constitution and the whole genius of our government set at naught and trampled under foot by wrenching the power of war and peace from the control of Congress and placing it at the mere discretion of an unscrupulous chief magistrate; whether we will or will not surrender up the rights of the States and let all our banks and railroads pass under the absolute control of the federal government through the provisions of a bankrupt law; and, in fine, whether we will or will not permit the right of slave property in the Territories, a right solemnly adjudicated by the highest judicial tribunal in the United States, to be placed at the mercy of miserable sets of squatter Abolitionists, with no power of appeal to Congress or to any other body whatever for redress.

These issues and many others which we have not time now to discuss or even to enumerate are to be tried on Monday. Those who have read our paper certainly understand them, and are, we trust, ready for the conflict. Let no one suppose for an instant that the corrupt and infamous deeds of the Administration are not now an issue before the people of Kentucky and Tennessee. They are an issue, and one of the chief issues. There is not a Democratic candidate, there is not a Democratic organ, there is not a prominent Democratic politician, but endorses and sustains the Administration in its utmost profligacy and corruption; and its chief champion, with a sardonic grin upon his face, tauntingly tells us that his party, far from retrenching the appalling expenditures of the Government, will in all probability increase them. Fellow countrymen, let us not give to that party an opportunity to fulfill the threatening prophecies of its main organ. Let us do our duty at the polls on Monday. Let us do it and do it thoroughly, and the nation will be gloriously redeemed. Let us remember that the day of the election is the day of the people's majesty and strength.

The greatest act of his (Robert Mallory's) life, as a statesman, was helping to slaughter Henry Clay in the Philadelphia Convention. He opposed and assisted in nominating Gen. Taylor over Henry Clay, which showed his discretion in political matters.—Courier.

That's just about as cool as frozen mercury. The Courier now charges it as a monstrous political crime that Mr. Mallory and others were for the nomination of Gen. Taylor in 1848, and yet we all know that the Courier itself in 1848, under the editorial management of the present senior of that concern, vauntingly claimed the honor of being the especial champion of Gen. Taylor's nomination, set up the noisiest pretensions to having been the first to urge the old chief's name upon the public, protested most vehemently that it would be no better than insanity to set Mr. Clay up to be beaten again, as he certainly would be, and vindicated with even intemperate zeal the action of Mr. Mallory and his colleagues at Philadelphia.

The Courier bitterly denounces those who went for Gen. Taylor's nomination, although it pretended to have done more than any other paper to bring about that nomination; it stigmatises as dirty Abolitionists those who opposed the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, although it opposed that repeal with its characteristic intemperateness; it brands, as scarcely too good for the penitentiary, every man who, even thirty years ago, uttered anything like a free-soil sentiment, although it staked its very life less than ten years ago upon the abolition of slavery in Kentucky and waged fierce war against slavery wherever it existed; and it assails with language of the foulest opprobrium all who took what it calls the horrid Know Nothing oaths, although it arrogated the honor of inaugurating the Know Nothing movement in Kentucky, and although its senior took the oaths himself, whatever they were, and labored with all his might to induce others to take them until his own formal expulsion from the party, and even then declared publicly that he would never abandon the party's principles.

☞ The chief men of the Democratic party have for years been waging against Louisville a fierce, bitter, and relentless war. Their aim has seemed to be her extermination from the face of the land. They have warned persons abroad not to come here and exhorted those actually here to emigrate. They have invoked the growing of the grass in our streets. They have proclaimed year after year that there was no protection for either life or property within our limits. They have blazoned every real or imaginary sign of our city's decay and denied and endeavored to conceal the thousand evidences of her prosperity. They have rewarded their chief editor with rich presents for stigmatizing her as fit only to be the dwelling place of Thugs.

And now, fellow men of the Opposition, it is against a party controlled and led on by such leaders that we call on you to organize for the conflict of next Monday. Work then with a will. Let the memories of the past, not less than the hopes of the future, awaken all your energies to life and action.

☞ If every opponent of Democracy, every one who feels that partisan corruption has reached a dangerous boldness, will vote next Monday, we can carry the State by tens of thousands. But, as many prefer doing injury to their country rather than injustice to their party, we must make our best endeavors to show how disastrous it will be to Kentucky and the Union if the abominable tenets of Locofocoism are allowed to take root in the State. We must each try to make a vote by arguing with our neighbors or by inducing some lukewarm person to come up to the polls. If every man of the Opposition will do his duty, a splendid triumph awaits us.

The Louisville Courier and Journal are engaged in unprofitable business. They are now, it will be remembered, the fiercest of the fire-eaters, the most ravenous and greedy of all the devourers of live coals, molten iron, and fire and brimstone dumplings dressed with aqua fortis.
Cincinnati Commercial.

We don't think that a paper should borrow, without acknowledgment, our own language to abuse us with. We really don't know what we have ever said or done to give anybody a right or even a decent pretext to call us a "fire-eater." If the doctrine that every man should be protected by adequate power in the enjoyment of rights declared by the United States Judiciary to belong to him constitutes us fire eaters, surely the term should not be one of reproach. In that case there is no middle ground between fire-eaters and anarchists.

☞ We are now almost in the middle of the last week of the canvass. There is much to be done in Louisville, but we have confidence that our friends will do it. In order to do this however they must strain every nerve. They must work day and night as the enemy are working. Let them, with the least possible loss of time, complete their organization. Let every man catch fire from the freest and impart it to the link warm and the cold. He who is apathetic at a time like this is not true to his country; and he who is not true to his country can be true to nothing.

☞ The Louisville Courier says that Judge Douglas is the vilest of Abolitionists and the blackest of traitors. Mr. Holt, the Courier's candidate for Congress in this district, says that he will support Judge Douglas, "God knows," for the Presidency I: the Charleston Convention nominates him. So the Courier is supporting a candidate for Congress, who proclaims that at the behest of a Convention made up chiefly of delegates from the non-slaveholding States, he will support for the Presidency, "God knows," the vilest of Abolitionists and the blackest of traitors.

☞ Men of Kentucky, we must redeem our State from the leprosy of Locofocism; the purity of our old Commonwealth has been tainted by its touch and it must be washed off and cleansed from its pollution.

☞ Linn Boyd wants to be elected Lieutenant Governor and United States Senator both. He is like the old sailor who was asked by Lady Hamilton which he would prefer—a glass of wine or a glass of brandy. "It don't matter which," replied Jack; "but if your ladyship pleases, I can be drinking the wine while you are pouring out the brandy."

The Semi-Monthly Medical News, of Louisville, Ky., is out with aspirited article denunciatory of the Kappa Lambdas, for whom, it seems, nobody has a word, as they are confessedly indefensible, and hence their ominous silence. But we are tempted to remind the Dr. B's, our confreres, that the newspaper puffs of a certain Louisville professor, who shall be nameless, for the radical operation in hernia, and claiming for him, so flippantly, merit, and even novelty, apart from being indecrous, are quite as unprofessional as K. Lism, or any other of our New York delinquencies. We pause for a reply.

The editor of the Medical Gazette pauses for a reply, and he shall have it. He writes himself "D. Meredith Reese." He was once a Methodist preacher and is now a fighting doctor—a real medical Ishmaelite, whose hand is against every professional brother's.

It is certain, that, unless Dr. Reese is just as dishonest as he is malicious, he didn't write, with his own hand or from his own head, the paragraph quoted above. If he read in our paper what he refers to in his own, he knows that what he says is untrue. But unquestionably he didn't read it—the paragraph he adopts was sent to him by an envious and malignant little doctor from this city; and it is false. In speaking of the new operation for hernia, we made no allusion to any physician or surgeon in this city except in this brief paragraph:

The operation has been successfully performed repeatedly by several of the ablest American surgeons, among whom we may mention Dr. Blackman, of Cincinnati, Dr. Ferner, of Louisiana, and Dr. Goldsmith, of this city; the latter gives it, we understand, his unqualified approval.

Of course the reader will see that the assertion put in Dr. Reese's mouth, that we have flippantly claimed for "a certain Louisville Professor" the merit of "novelty" in the operation for hernia is, as we pronounced it above, absolutely false. We know, or think we know, very well indeed, who it was that sent the scandalous paragraph to New York, and we here say, and if necessary we can show at any time, that he and his friends, however unprofessional they may think newspaper notices of surgical operations to be, have made more frequent exertions, and not always unsuccessfully, to obtain notices from us of his operations, than have ever been made to induce us to notice the performances of any other member of his profession here or elsewhere. We here avow, as a universal rule, that those physicians and surgeons of our city, who are most anxious and take most pains to get us to puff them and their peculiar friends, are the quickest and the loudest to complain of our committing outrages upon the medical code whenever we choose to allude to the successful operations of a medical or surgical brother whom they don't happen to like because they think he is a lion in their path.

We have not talked with Dr. Goldsmith about his operations for the cure of hernia, but we know from the testimony of others, not only his patients but highly respectable surgeons who have seen those patients, that he does cure that malady unerringly and radically. We know that he has perfectly cured several cases without a failure even in one. We know, for instance, the case of a man, whom he cured six months ago, and who now, with no artificial support, works in his fields and exerts all his physical strength as freely as ever without the slightest inconvenience. Dr. G. has never, like a good many others, asked us to notice his surgical performances, but knowing, as we do, that he cures hernia with the most perfect certainty, we feel that it is our right and our duty, without asking either his consent or the consent of those who are envious and miserable at seeing anybody noticed except themselves, to state the fact for the benefit of the afflicted. If we have violated the medical code, let the codifiers help themselves.

PATRIOTIC MEN, ATTENTION!—The Nashville Banner says the government records of the last six years have been unfolded to you, and have disclosed in the conduct of the Pierce and Buchanan Administrations a degree of extravagance and wastefulness of the public money—of corruption and peculation most astounding—of dishonesty and unfaithfulness unequalled—which has humiliated the national character and demonstrated that republican simplicity, the leading characteristic of our form of government, has been lost. Under the seductive cognomen of Democracy, genuine republicanism in many of its features has been betrayed by the now dominant party. Economy, frugality, and simplicity—its safeguards—have given place to wastefulness, luxuriance, and dexterous duplicity—the bane of civil liberty. The public treasure, taxed from the toiling millions, instead of being devoted to its legitimate purposes—the development of the nation's internal wealth and the promotion of its productiveness—the providing for national defence and protection, and the extinction of the national debt, is emptied into the pockets of partizans—lavished upon useless and costly works for the multiplication of fat jobs—and used as a gigantic corruption fund for the buying of votes to sustain the power of this party. A heavy loan debt has been contracted, and the national treasury is bankrupt. Money intended for the payment of the humble employees of the government has been filched by the government rascals in high places, and the laboring man left unpaid. Forty dollar debts to poor mail contractors have gone to the building of doors at a cost of forty thousand dollars apiece. If this state of things is not checked, liberty will be choked by rank corruption, and this government will be converted into a despotism founded upon money wrung from your toil. Vote to displace the Democracy and check this rapid rate of destruction.

☞ The Springfield (Mass.) Republican, one of the strongest supporters of the Fremont creed, and edited with unusual ability, takes comfort from observing "how rapidly the transfer of the sent of war over the slavery question from the North to the South is taking place." It sees "little or nothing that can be called agitation at the North now on the question," but hears, "in the South, on the contrary, the first mutterings of a great tempest." The Republican might have gone further in its self-gratulations and rejoiced over the fact "than Northern men holding its views, and even holding views more dangerous and inimical to the South, are upheld at the South as Presidential candidates. It ought to solace the old Fremont Republicans to know that though there is an antagonism between the Southern Democracy and Seward, Sumner, or Hale, still Douglas can receive Democratic endorsements, and that candidates of the Democracy now running for Congress are to vote for Douglas and asseverate with marked emphasis their willingness to take him with all his imperfections on his head. If the Springfield Republican had a vote in this Congressional district, how heartily it would cast it for Col. Holt. He's the very candidate to suit it.

☞ Citizens of Kentucky! remember that the next Legislature elects an United States Senator and if you permit the Democrats to carry a majority of that body John C. Breckinridge will be the man and that the Paducah Herald says "a large majority of the States have lost faith in the Vice President upon the question of the rights of the south," and that "he and his intimate friends have manifested a disposition to surrender the constitutional rights of slaveholders to the sickly freesoil views of Judge Douglas, to ignore the rights solemnly adjudicated to the south by the Supreme Court of the United States for the purpose of accomplishing certain Presidential schemes."

HOW THE ABOLITIONISTS GO.—Mr. Harry Hawes, who was one of the Fremont electors in Kentucky in 1856, says, that, having watched Mr. Magoffin very closely thus far during the present political canvass, he has arrived fully at the conclusion that he will vote for Mr. M. as being Fremont-ocrat enough for all practical purposes. Unquestionably this will be the policy of the Abolitionists in the State. Mr. Magoffin will get the Abolition vote of Kentucky as Mr. Letcher did that of Virginia.

A ARMING TO HARRISON AND OURSON.— e have authentic information that a very considerable number of the Democrats of Owen county have passed over into Bourbon and Harrison counties with the view of securing the election of Simms to Congress.

There is no mistake about this. Our Bourbon and Harrison friends must look to it promptly and adopt the necessary action. The votes of these interlopers must not be polled. They will not be, if our friends are true in their party and to themselves. Owen has been for years the hot bed of Locofoco corruption.

☞ If Robert Mallory needed to be vindicated by his friends against the poor and pitiful remarks of one of our city papers, the fact would prove him unfit to be a candidate for office. His lofty and substantial character, and his strong, sensible speeches are all the vindication he wants.

☞ The Washington States has become prophetic and says John C. Breckinridge will succeed Mr. Crittenden in the U. S. Senate. What does the Paducah Herald respond to that, as the organ of Linn Boyd?

☞ Farmers of Kentucky, you can garner a rich political harvest next Monday. Do not fail to be out in the fields that day, and make thorough work in getting in your crops!

☞ The leaders of the Louisville Democracy notoriously regard themselves as owing long arrears of vengeance to the masses of the Opposition. Shall we then suffer the power of the city to pass into their hands?

☞ The Democracy is a disunion party." Hon. W. L. Yancey, one of the most distinguished leaders of the Southern Democracy, gives as his reason for being a Democrat, that the measures of the Democracy are calculated to produce disunion.

☞ "Rally Democrats to the rescue," is the Locofoco cry. The rescue of what? Why, the miserably corrupt Democratic party! But the Opposition are called to the rescue of the country from the disorganizing, destructive, and usurping tendencies, the sectionalism and disunion affinities, the corruption, the extravagance, and the duplicity of the Democracy. What a contrast!

☞ Mr. Holt is personally a clever gentleman, yet who of the tradncers of Louisville during the last four years has transcended him in ferocity of vituperation. Remember him.

☞ "Three tips out" used to be the rule of base ball in our play days. If the same law holds good in statesmanship, the "three tips" of Gen. Cass on our naturalized citizens abroad ought to put his hand out, and let the next player take the bat.

☞ Whilst the administration is carrying on the Government in a time of peace at an expense of about a hundred millions per year, its organs boast of its displaying a wonderful economy in saving ninety five thousand dollars per year by dismissing supernumerary custom-house officers at New York who have never rendered service of any value whatever, and who ought to have been, and, but for the most scandalous favoritism, would have been dismissed two years ago. Their appointment and their retention in office for so long a time show the most culpable remissness of duty. The administration, instead of being entitled to credit for dismissing them now, deserves execration for not having done the work before, for their utter uselessness has been as well known for years as it is to-day.

What is more, the dismissals in the New York custom house have not been much more than half as numerous as they should be. The Washington correspondent of the U. S. Gazette says that more than one third of the number which the special agent of the Treasury reported as deserving dismissal are still pensioned on the government as mere political partisans, who render no service but at ward meetings, and in supporting "regular nominations." More money was quandered in a recent contrast for army flour in Utah, which is said to have been sub-let three times over, until one-third of the price to be paid under the original contract affords a sufficient profit for the last contractor, than would cover Mr. Cobb's imaginary retrenchment four-fold. Thus, with their usual order of economy, while affecting to be very zealous in saving at the spigot they are a little more so in spilling at the bung. They claim to save $95,000 at one point, while wasting $850,000 at another.

The organs here very complacently assumed credit for the Administration in the reduction of the appropriations by Congress last session, when the fact is notorious that all the reductions were made by cutting down the estimates of the Treasury Department. For example, Mr. Cobb asked $52,169,515 66 for "estimated appropriations to be made by law for the service of the fiscal year to June 30, 1860," exclusive of the Post-Office. Congress gave him $43,000,000 in round numbers, or $9,000,000 less than he wanted. The proceedings of Congress show that these reductions were accomplished by the votes of the united Opposition and a very small fraction of Democratic aid. The main body of the party resisted every effort at economy, and particularly the proposition to reduce the expenses of collecting the revenue from $3,600,000 a year to $2,500,000, the maximum under the Taylor-Fillmore Administration, and of which a surplus of $800,000 was left on four years. Their successors not only spent the surplus thus turned over by Mr. Meredith and Mr. Corwin, but under various pretexts increased the expenses of collecting the revenue $1,100,000 a year!

When Mr. Cobb asked $52,000,000 for the regular appropriations, he admitted having on hand $21,000,000 of what are called "existing" and "permanent and indefinite" appropriations, so that, in point of fact, his estimates reached an aggregate of $73,000,000 for the current year.

☞ Judge Frazier of Breathitt treated the challenge of John B. Herndon to meet him and canvass the State with profound silence. Our friend however has not been idle and we think he has taken care to prepare for the register of a good many Opposition votes in the Ninth District, where Laban T. Moore is gaining strength every day in the Congressional race.

☞ The gallant Wadsworth has been camped out among the mountains for over a month and speaking to a succession of the largest crowds ever drawn out in that region. The good effects of his labors will be recognized next Monday. He is a glorious champion of the right, and the men of the mountains hang entranced on the eloquent truths which he enunciates so forcibly.

☞ Opposition voters, have you made every necessary arrangement to secure a full vote next Monday? If not, go at it without delay, and let not a vote be lost to our noble cause.

☞ Wat Andrews, the veteran Whig Senator from Fleming, is filling a list of appointments in Mason and doing glorious service for the Opposition.

☞ Mr. Dodge, our late minister to Spain, has written a letter favoring the acquisition of Cuba by negotiation. During his whole residence at the Spanish Court he never ventured to broach the subject there.

☞ The Richmond Enquirer last week contained a crushing article on the Washington Constitution, designating it as the "cat-faced organ." This is certainly purr-sonal and no feline on the pun illanixous Brigadier General. What will the B's do with the Y's?

☞ The Nashville Union, apprehensive of the result of the Kentucky election, is cautioning the Democracy of Tennessee to disbelieve the news they may hear from our State on the eve of their election. We shall send them a report that will shock their weak nerves, but we trust it will not overpower their shattered frames.

THOS. S. PAGE.—Our information from all parts of the State is of a character to satisfy us that the people of the State have taken the election of Auditor into their own hands, and that party feeling and party organization will have little to do with it. From every quarter we hear of leading Democrats who have declared a determination to ignore party in regard to this matter and to vote for Thos. S. Page, as a man, and as one who comes fully up to the old Jeffersonian test—honest, capable, faithful men—and thus to retain in the public service one who by his integrity, capacity, and fidelity has won for himself a character of which any might be proud, and who has devoted himself so assiduously to the performance of their public duties. The people of the State know that his official life has been spent in their service and that in the discharge of his official duties he has equally and impartially served them without regard to party distinctions, and they are now going to give him their verdict according-ly—at least such is our belief from the information that comes to us from all sources. And we must say that such a result would be alike honoring to him and them.

The fo lowing is but one of the many testimonials to this old public servant which have met our notics and we cordially endorse every word of it:
[From the Hopkinsville Mercury.]

MR. PAGE.—I have before me a closely printed volume of 800 pages, entitled "The Annual Report of the Auditor of Public accounts for the fiscal year ending October 10, 1857." The array of figures and explanations is perfectly formidable, and until examined seems full of difficulty, but the arrangement and method is so simple and plain that the most unlearned in such matters can see at a glance the illustration of what may be accomplished by a clear head and an industrious hand. Thomas S. Page, the Auditor, has furnished each year, for about thirty years past, an annual volume similar to the one before me, and by this systematic arrangement of the business of his office, has saved immense sums to the Commonwealth. Without prejudice, for I am not in the habit of voting for Governor Breathitt. An opportunity occurred for displacing Mr. Page, and under the influence of party battle, a gentleman by the name of Selby was appointed. In a very brief space of time it was ascertained that the accounts and business of the office could not be kept up, and Mr. Page was compelled to create a new office called the Second Auditor's Office, to which he was appointed, at a large nominal amount of business left with the First Auditor. Mr. Page has since conducted the whole business with entire satisfaction to the public.

We will make but three additional remark: 1st. Mr. Page is entitled to his attention to private business in his office, and has managed as well for one party as another, as may be seen under the recent changes in the state auditor ship. 2d. He has been remarkable at all times for his attention to private applications on business in every office at the seat of government, and this is however possible. His accurate knowledge of the public business makes him able to give prompt replies to all demands, and his habits of regular correspondence leads him to do it. 3d. Mr. Page labors as hard as any man day, and at the same time he is liberal in his pecuniary advancements for every small cause that may be necessary to carry out the applications of persons writing for assistance. True, in the progress of time Mr. Page will, like the rest of us, become infirm and old, but we know of no reason why we should not reap the benefit of his talents while he is able and willing to serve us. Mr. Page's principal Hotels, and by all the leading dealers throughout the country.

Gen. Huston will address the people of Jefferson county, on Monday and Tuesday—the points to be designated hereafter.

THE CAMP FIRES BURNING!

MALLORY IN THE FIELD.

This week's work opens to-night at the Kentucky Engine House, where ROBERT MALLORY, our candidates for Congress will address the people. He has made the following appointments:

Tuesday night at Portland.

This evening, also, Gen. JOHN B. HUSTON, the genial gentleman and powerful speaker will meet our citizens at the Falls City Market House. We hope none of both parties will make it a point of duty to attend and hear the issues discussed, and we sincerely trust Col. Holt will make it convenient to meet Mr. Mallory. We want our people to hear and see them together, as we know they wish to.

☞ The general typographical neatness of our paper has been much impaired for some days past, owing partly to the warm weather, but mcr; particularly to the wearing out of the two vibratory rollers on the press. As we cannot procure new ones here, we have telegraphed them and hope to receive them during the week, when the Journal will again present its usual clear and legible appearance. Our friends will bear and forbear under this contingency.

☞ Some of the carriers of both the Journal and Evening Bulletin have suddenly taken sick from the late extreme heat. Their places have been supplied by new hands. If any of the subscribers fail to receive their papers, they will please notify us of the fact.

☞ Gen. John B. Stanton was senine ully successful in his remarks at the Falls City Market House last night, and his audience was filled with glorious enthusiasm. The roar of cannon and the enlivening strains of music added to the interest of the meeting, and the sturdy orator from Clark dealt his sturdy blows upon the Democracy and interspersed them with telling accdotes, to the entire satisfaction of all who heard him. To night he speaks at the point, corner of Clay and Fulton streets. Let our friends rally on the occasion.

☞ Robert Mallory made a glorious speech at the Kentucky Engine House last night, and held his very large audience enchained during its delivery. He was powerful, convincing, and eloquent. All that was anticipated from our candidate was more than realized. He has set the old beacon lights blazing anew; he has rekindled the enthusiasm of the past; and if the Seventh District does its duty to him and to itself, he will be elected by an overwhelming majority. For the coming week he devotes himself to the elucidation of the issues of the campaign before his constituents, and we ask our citizens to hear him at the following times and places:

At the Roscoe Engine House Wednesday night;
At John Bell's, on the Point, Thursday night;
At the Shelby Street Market House Friday night;
At the Court House Yard Saturday night.

After the close of Mr. Mallory's speech at the Engine House, Maj. A. T. Hanock spoke about fifteen minutes. His speech was strong, enthusiastic, and effective. It roused the large assemblage and was greeted with loud applause. The spirit of our friends is up for victory.

RALLY, OPPOSITION OF THE SECOND WARD!—There will be a meeting of all who are opposed to modern Democracy at the Kentucky Engine House on Tuesday night next to nominate a candidate for the Common Council. Turn out, gallant men, and do your duty. Now is the time to strike.

☞ A grand barbecue will be given at Shelbyville on Friday next, 29th inst., at which several distinguished speakers will be present. As this will be the final rally of the campaign in that vicinity, it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

☞ The Democrats of the Seventh and Eighth wards last night nominated Mr. E. E. Levering for the Legislature.

☞ Another of those mutual exhibitions, a prize fight, took place yesterday at Twelve Mile Island. The combatants were the seconds of Mr. Cooley and Dublin Tricks, who fought a few weeks ago, when the latter was whipped, and his second, Allegheny Boy, met with the same fate on the present occasion, being very badly used up by Carney. We understand they fought sixty-six rounds. A son Jones, the trainer of the Benecia Boy, was Allegheny' second.

☞ Messrs. S. G. Henry & Co. would call the special attention of clothing merchants and tailors to their sales of cloths, cassimeres, sattinets, and coatings on 90 days' credit, commencing this morning at 10 o'clock. They would particularly mention an invoice of the real simon-pure Steubenville 4-4 Jeans, which will be included in the sale.

"HOSES TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE."—Our enterprising friend Dr. Gates has just returned from the East, where he has been on a professional tour to the most celebrated American hospitals, where he informs us he had the privilege of witnessing many scientific surgical operations, and also of providing himself with such pure medicines as he uses in his especial practice. The Dr. is determined to keep pace with all the discoveries and improvements in his profession, and we would advise all requiring the advice of a well informed and competent physician in his "speciality" to make a sure thing of a cure by applying only to Dr. H. GATES, whose advertisement may be found in another column.

"THE DIMOCRAT."—A beautiful painting by one of our distinguished artists is now on exhibition at the Capitol, at the corner of Third and Green streets. We understand it will be disposed of by raffle this evening.

☞ Mr. Spencer sells this afternoon on the premises for desirable brick cottages and lots. For particulars see advertisement.

☞ The citizens of Nashville have subscribed $100,000 for the erection of a new hotel, the amount to be exempted from drawing interest for five years.

☞ Thanks to Adams' Express and the Jeffersonville Railroad for Cincinnati and St. Louis papers.

☞ Mr. Doering's book on the manufacturing and commercial advantages of Louisville has been delivered to all the original subscribers, and as he issued an additional number to those actually engaged, he can furnish copies with the business card of any firm conspicuously inserted. The work has had a very extended circulation and its beneficial results have been practically tested by those who distributed copies.

☞ A new kind of Government securities has made its appearance in the New York market. It is U. S. Post Office Scrip. Thompson quotes the buying rates at 12@15 per cent. discount, and the selling rate 8@10 per cent. discount.

☞ Oscar Turner has withdrawn from the Congressional canvass in the First District, leaving the field open to Hon. Henry C. Burnett, who stands a fair chance of being elected in the Gibraltar of Louisvoisum.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Monday, July 26.—Chas. Tripp, alias Marcus Benton Tripp, bigamy. The testimony was that he married Miss Hayden in Lebanon, in 1856, and afterwards married his present wife in Cincinnati. Bail in $800 to answer at the next circuit court. Committed.

George, a slave of Mrs. Faith, assault on Alles, a slave of Mrs. Scott, with intent to kill. Continued till Wednesday. This was the affray on Fourth street. George is alive yet, but no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Chas. Sullivan, as ault on Buck, f. m c. Discharged.

Pat Donohue, drunk and assault on Margaret Brady. Bail in $100 to answer, and $100 for his good behavior for three months. Workhouse.

Fred Andrews, drunk and assault on Charlotte Du Vidler. Bail in $100 to answer, and $200 to be of good behavior for six months.

Jas. Wallace, f. m. c., carrying concealed a deadly weapon. Bail is $300 to answer. Workhouse.

Elisha Easton, f. m. c., firing a pistol in the city limits and suspected felon. Bail in $200 for three months. Workhouse.

Theodore Applegate, Wm. Hawkins, Henry Hawkins, and Wash Grant, suspected felons. Bail of Applegate in $200 for three months. Workhouse. The others discharged.

Terah Barns, Wm. Dwyer, Mary Jones, James Kusick, Sr., and James Kusick, Jr., drunk and disorderly conduct. Kusick, Sr., discharged, Kusick, Jr., and Burns gave bail, and Dwyer and Jones were sent to the workhouse in default of $100 bail each.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS

The river continues falling slowly. Last evening there were large 3 feet water in the canal. The weather is again getting warm.

The shortest place between this and Cairo is Portland bar. There are 3½ feet water on it. The M. Patton reports 4 feet at Scuttletown. The Woodford was lying upon a bar, waiting for daylight to pass over it. Several boats ran aground at Flint Island.

The steamers Nile and Progress are advertised to leave for St. Louis today.

The Hastings, with one of her barges loaded with railroad iron, ran on to a log at Medoc bar on Friday evening and knocked a big hole in her. She was headed for shore and sunk in 8 feet water when within a few feet of the beach. Another barge was taken down on Saturday by the Champion and all the iron recovered from off the sunken boat.

An effort will be made this week to raise the sucken steamer Winslow at the mouth of Licking.

The Highflyer has gone in the dry-dock at St. Louis.

Wm. Turner, assistant engineer on the steamer Ed. Walsh, fell overboard at Island No. 100 in the Mississippi and was drowned.

☞ We call the special attention of our readers to Mr. Spencer's sale of superior old wines, and imported liquors—perhaps better wines or finer liquors have never been imported into our city. The sale takes place this morning at 10 o'clock at his auction rooms. Other articles of merit will also be included in the sale.

FAILURES IN NEW YORK CITY.—The Journal of Commerce of Friday afternoon says:

Messrs. Bird & Johnson, a respectable house in the hard trade, who it is said went out of their regular business to pack prime mess pork at war prices, have been unfortunately obliged to suspend. We regret to notice also the suspension of Messrs. Hoffman & Stevens, a very respectable house in the flour and grain commission business.

[For the Louisville Journal.]

PROCEEDINGS OF THE YOUNG MEN'S AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of the Young Men's American Association, held at the Locust Grove Academy, on Saturday, July 23, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

President—George Glover.
Vice President—John E. Millian.
Treasurer—Isaac Beverly Tinsley.
Secretary—Isaac Everett, Jr.

The President appointed a committee of five to draft resolutions.

Resolved, That American party of Kentucky has disbanded.

Resolved, That, believing the Opposition the only true party in existence, we give its candidates our hearty support.

Resolved, That we believe the Democratic party to be corrupt from beginning to end, and that by uniting with the Opposition we feel assured that it is the only way of preserving peace and tranquillity among the States.

Resolved, That hereafter our Association be one and the same as the Opposition party.

Resolved, That these proceedings be published in the Louisville Journal and Evening Bulletin.

The meeting then adjourned to meet on Wednesday, July 27th, at 8 o'clock P. M.

J. GLOVER, President.
J. EVERETT, Jr., Secretary.

HORRIBLE OUTRAGE.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

PRINCETON, Ky., July 21, 1859.

GENTLEMEN: One of the most atrocious and inhuman acts of cruelty was committed in this county on Sunday last that was ever perpetrated in a civilized society. Some time since there was an assassination committed about ten miles north of this place, supposed to have been done by a slave of Jesse Williams at the instigation of said Williams. Although in the examining court the fact was not fully proved, two other slaves of Williams said that the negro accused of the crime confessed the murder and that at the instigation of Jesse Williams, and that they would report the matter to the friends of the deceased, whereupon Jesse Williams and his son Johnson Williams arrested the two boys, both coloured field, bound their legs together, hitched them by a singletree to a mule, and dragged them for several hours over the field, and then left them lifeless; but, after search of a few hours, they wandered off two or three miles and was found this morning, by some citizens of this place, much mangled and bruised. It was thought that he would not have action enough to live, but his recovery is thought doubtful. The other boy has not been found and is supposed to be dead. The people are much agitated upon the matter, and there is every appearance of a furious row, as the people are thoroughly convinced of the inefficiency of law to reach the family. Within the last ten years they have been prosecuted for every crime and misdemeanor, from murder to jay stealing. It is to be dreaded that the people will give the law another chance to vindicate herself.

SINGULAR MALADY.—A young man named Oreno Deeds, residing about two miles south of this place, came into town on yesterday, and called on Dr. Z. M. Landsdown, stating that he had experienced a violent roaring or noise in his head, accompanied by acute pain. The symptoms difficulty resembled those of, seemed to be in his right ear. He stated that he had first been attacked with the malady on the preceding night, and that it had rapidly increased, until when he visited the Doctor, it was almost unbearable.

Dr. L. proceeded at once to dilate the ear, and make an examination into the cause, when he discovered a number of small white worms, about an eighth of an inch in length (nodes) creeping to and fro in the orifice with great rapidity. He inserted an instrument into the ear, and, after a somewhat protracted effort, succeeded in taking out ninety-two of these worms, which gave instant relief, and the young man went home perfectly cured, to at least temporarily relieved of the painful and unpleasant noise complained of.

Dr. Lansdown informs us that this is the first case of the kind that he has ever had in his practice, and that he has never seen a parallel in "the books."

Valuable Cargo.—The English steamer Teviot, which sailed from Vera Cruz for Southampton on the 9th inst., took out a cargo valued at $2,585,125 65, as follows, viz: 1,000 bars, 2,307,692 65; coined gold, $10,331; worked silver, $3,191; vanilla, 91 boxes, containing 986,419 beans, $36,435; cochineal, 160 arrobas, $7,356; coffee, 82 arrobas, $220; jalap, 72 arrobas, $940; and the rest in animals, plants, &c.—N. O. Crescent.

The track has been laid upon our railroad to a point within four miles from town, towards the Kentucky line. Full thirty miles have been completed, and are ready for the iron — thirteen to the Kentucky line, and seventeen toward the Tennessee river. The whole work is under contract.

Clarksville (Tenn.) Chronicle.

Rum.—We have had a most plentiuous and refreshing shower of rain, commencing during all day Saturday, it began in earnest between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock at night, and continued until daylight yesterday. It fall quietly and copiously, and doubtless has caused every one rejoice West. Nothing could have been more approprate to the crops or to the comfort of our citizens.

St. Louis Democrat, July 25.

AN AFFECTING CASUALITY.—We have just heard that three children belonging to a Mr. Clark, of Buena Vista, while away from home, yesterday evening (18th inst.) kindled a fire in a stable in some way, and were locked in by a heavy rain and wind storm, and were felled to the ground by a falling tree, killing one of them, a boy twelve years of age, instantly, and injuring the other two seriously.—Franklin (Ind.) Democrat.

No rain has fallen here for about five weeks, and the same dry state of affairs exists in many sections of the country. In some localities good rains have lately fallen, but these places are "few and far between." Corn and tobacco are suffering greatly, and unless relief, in the shape of rain, soon comes pretty soon, the crop of both staples must be very short. We however hope for a better result, after all, from present indications portend.—Clarksville (Tenn.) Chronicle.

Grand Council of Mexican Chieftains.—We learn by a private letter that there have been a grand council, that the last English steamer from Vera Cruz took up to Tampico Gen. Traconis, Jose Garza, Justo Alvarez, Gomez Farias, Joaquim Degollado, Romero Rubio, and General Doblado. That object of raising movements is to take counsel on the expedition which Gov. Gaizo is said to be organizing. We also learn that a large quantity of arms and ammunition have recently been introduced into Northern Mexico, perhaps for this vary expedition, by way of the Rio Grande.—N. O. Pranyune.

FOREIGN NEWS.—A letter from Bracciа to the New York Times says:

The cordial between Napoleon and Victor Emanuel are not as cordial as they have been heretofore. The Russia question is very embarrassing, and Napoleon is greatly disappointed at not being able to find a throne for Prince Napoleon in Tuscany. The letter concludes: "Now it is possible that the Emperor might overlook this little cavalier movement of his plans, consider it easy to find another throne for Plon Plon, but another and still more serious trouble arises in the Legations. The moment the Austrians are compelled to retire, the inhabitants of the Papal States, whom brute force alone has prevented from dethroning the Pope every day since 1848, will throw off the hated yoke and proclaim Victor Emanuel King. What can the Emperor do? His told the Italians from Milan in organize themselves into a military force to rally around the King's standard and to follow him on the path that he loooks, promising not to offer any impediment to the expression of their legitimate wishes. They have done so. Perhaps he meant only to speak Little Lombardy. Then he should have said so clearly. He cannot now send troops to crush the Italians for their prompt obedience to his call, and on the other hand he has guaranteed the temporal dominion of the Church to the Pope, and cannot withdraw his subjects to rebel. He is between two dilemmas.

On the one hand, the French clergy will do their utmost to rouse an insurrection in France if the Pope his assailed with arms the indifferent troops of the Emperor. On the other, the messieres at Perugia, have set not only the inhabitants of the Papal States frantic, but the Italians.

As long as they believe that the Emperor will, if he does not help, consent to their taking vengeance for those infamies, they are still his ardent admirers, but already his silence has shocked them. Calming words from Guyon are no longer sufficient for the Romans, and depend upon it when the last Austrian wabdraws from Comacchio and Parma, they will take matters into their own hands. The Emperor knows this. He knows that Victor Emanuel is profoundly grieved at the existing state of things, that he does not see and cannot be made to see why he should not be made King of Italy, since the Italians wish it.

What is to be done? That is the question. I repeat that I can see but one of the initiated, but the impression is strong here that he is wavering as to whether after all he will drive the Austrians clear out of the Peninsula. If he wavers, if he shows signs of making peace till this is done, woe to the French name in Italy. Woe to the unhappy Venetians, who will have to bear all the brunt of the Austrian vengeance. Woe to the volunteers under Garibaldi, who will appear to have been engaged in a mere affair of brigandage. Now it is ore of them, until the last Austrian be hunted from the Italic Alps.

But it may not be so bad as this. Perhaps Venice may be freed from the Austrians, but made into a separate kingdom under the Archduke Max.

Perhaps this panic has no foundation. Napoleon has said that Italy shall be free from the Alps to the Adriatic. Can he be thought capable or unfaithful in the face of Europe? I will not think so yet. The unnecessarily slow approach of the Franco Sardinian fleet toward Venice seems to give color to my fears, but I will wait a nothing else, which seems to have seized on all.

The following extract from a letter written by Wm. Falls, a young gentleman of Baltimore sojourning in Trieste, to his father, Gen. Falls, will be read with interest, as it presents the fact that the armistice originated with Austria—a question in debate at the latest advices of the London press, and further that the ill-feeling of the Austrian to concede the whole issue with respect to dominion in Italy.

Trieste, Saturday, July 2.—There was a report from a creditable source last evening, to the effect that Austria is desirous of attempting a mediation, perceiving that with her impoverished treasury, and the general unpopularity of her cause, it would be useless to sacrifice more people and incur greater pecuniary obligations. To the above end Envoys have been sent to the French headquarters, which rumor attributes to be in France.

These Envoys have been commissioned by the Emperor to offer the restoration of the whole of the Lombardo-Venetian Kingdom. In other words, the Austrians are willing to evacuate Italy. To gain this, the war began. With such a concession the war ends.

It is further stated that the Emperor had not gone to Vienna, but retired in disgust and despair to Verona, whence three proposals of peace emanated. An insurrection in Vienna itself was feared if war continued, and a general and sudden change in the feelings of the whole Austrian population has taken place. Such is the report. The events now happening may of themselves contradict it, but here it is believed. The Austrians themselves within the capital are said to have been guilty to express their dissatisfaction at the manner in which the war on their part has been conducted.

The Milan correspondent of the New York Times, writes:

Every day brings new proofs of the universal admiration of the people for Garibaldi. The statues of Victor Emanuel is everywhere on the walls, in proclamations and other official papers, but where the name of the King is heard once in the mouths of the people, that of Garibaldi is sure to follow. He is their god and their household worship. They never tire recounting his exploits, and my own admiration of the man has been softened down by the rarfeit I have received from other quarters.

Next to Garibaldi in the affections of the people, stands Count Cavour. The Count is a great man. He is a Cardinal Richelieu, a Talleyrand, and a Metternich single handedly retrieves his credit by any name of the present epoch. But he is a great intrigue, a long sighted politician, and a thorough despot. He is a polished courtier, and yet a high minded statesman. He is the very genius of his trade. He is having as much to do with the present events in Italy as Napoleon III. The two are doing all the work, and one is quite as essential to its success as the other. Let but a single stage Cavour will fill in the history of the important events of today.

Victor Emanuel passes as a bon garcon, if you know what that means, as an idiom in other words, as a good fellow. Add to this the words, a chivalric and dauntless soldier, and you have the total estimate of him by the Italian people. You may be curious, as I certainly was, to know how the people of this country estimate Louis Napoleon, and the work he is doing for them. I have failed to find in the people that frank expression and confidence in his promises I had anticipated. They admire him as a conqueror, and regaid him and his army as invincible, but they are either silent or ambiguous on the political phrases of the Emperor. He is showered with all the outward expressions of confidence on the part of the people, and the journals and his soldiers are actually defied by the people, but this is not the intimate expression of the popular mind

I regret this, for I am just as sure that Napoleon intends to fulfil his promises as that he is now in Italy, and there is not a single argument nor the shadow of an argument, to the contrary.

THE INDIANA LIQUOR LAW OF 1859 IN COURT.—In two cases of habeas corpus before Judge Perkins, the liquor law passed at the last session of the Legislature, upon several important points raised as to its constitutionality. Last week a decision by Judge The applicant in one case was a negro. In this case the objection was raised to the law that it violated that section of the constitution which guaranteed equality of rights to all citizens. The Judge decided that the negro was never recognised as a citizen in Indiana, and hence he could have no relief upon that ground. The other two objections, that it is not of uniform operation throughout the counties and that it specially taxes a particular business, were also overruled. The prisoner was remanded to jail.

In the other case the petitioner was a white and a mulcor. It was claimed in this case that he was a citizen, and therefore not subject to any disabilities resulting from the color of his skin. After this application was denied on the ground that a minor, while having some, had not all the privileges and liabilities of complete citizenship, and upon the points decided in the first case. We refer to the opinion of Judge Perkins, in another place, necessarily hastily prepared, for the reasons for sustaining the law upon the points named.

It will thus be seen that upon two important points—uniformity of operation and special taxation—one of the Judges of the Supreme Court decides the law as not in conflict with the Constitution. The first point is regarded as regulating the traffic, and stands between total prohibition on one side and free trade on the nther.—Indianapolis Sentinel

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

☞ Under the title of "Paddy's Night Cap" a correspondent of the Philadelphia North American describes an ingenious mode of preserving ice and always having cold water. Prepare a double green pudding bag. It may be lined inside to keep the fat out of the water with a layer of muslin, and covered outside with any material for show. Put a sufficient quantity of ice in a pitcher of water, and cover it with this bag; it preserves the ice better than any other mode, and if you use ice enough, you may always have cold water. You may cover the water in this way at bed time, and find ice in the pitcher in the morning. The idea or pattern was obtained from an Irish gentleman, and for a mere trifle it gives a more serviceable article than any patent pitcher. The philosophy of the thing is that if a small quantity of ice is put into a pitcher of water, it melts rapidly, but a large quantity soon reduces the temperature of the water, so that it acts as a preserver of it with a cold medium, and in this way, under "Paddy's Night Cap," it is better preserved than in any ice pitcher.

Mt. Jutane Heated Term —The weather has been excessively hot throughout California. The air at Santa Barbara was a genuine sirocco. A correspondent of a San Francisco paper, writing from there, says:

At one o'clock in the afternoon of the 17th inst., a burning wind came upon us from the northwest and sweeping with scorching force. At 3 o'clock the thermometer exposed to this wind rose to 133 degrees of Fahrenheit; at five o'clock it had fallen to 122 degrees, and at seven o'clock it stood at 77 degrees, where it had been in the morning.

A fisherman who was out at sea came back with his arms all blistered. Many calves, rabbits, and birds died of suffocation.

The heat at Timbuctoo, Yuba county, caused the thermometer to rise to 121 degrees on the 22d inst.

At Ophir, the thermometer stood at 111 in the shade, for three consecutive hours. At Gold Hill, it was 116. At Mains Bar, on the American river, 120. At Mountain Springs, 116. The mercury ranged about 10 higher than the above figures, when the thermometer was placed in a frame building. On Thursday, 19th inst., we were favored with a little less heat; and as we write (Friday afternoon) the mercury is only up to 99—and all hands enjoying the cool weather immensely.

In Border the mercury rose to 100 in the coolest part of San Andreas; on Monday, to 108—standing at that point for two hours; on Tuesday, by 11, A. M., it reached 106, by 1 P. M., 108; by 4 P. M., 110; on Wednesday, at 11 A. M., 108; 2 P. M., 112.

On Wednesday last, the thermometer in Benicia stood 102 deg., and on Thursday at 103 deg.

In Oroville, the weather during the past week has been decidedly warm, the thermometer in the court house ranging 110, and in Wells, Fargo, & Co.'s Express office, as high as 116 degrees.

The hottest weather ever known in the State, says the Shasta Courier, has been experienced during the past week. In some places, in brick buildings, the mercury rose to 118 degrees.

On Thursday, the 23d inst., the heat between the Stanislaus and Tuolumne rivers was excessive. The thermometer was 113 degrees in the shade. The wind was awful, as it was heated so that it felt as if actually burning the flesh.

The last issue or five days, says the Trinity Journal, have been hotter than ever before known here. On Tuesday and Wednesday last, 107 degrees in the shade; on Wednesday 106; and on Thursday 105 degrees.

The heat has never been more oppressive at Marysville, says the Gazette, than during the past two days. The thermometer has ranged in the middle of the day from 110 to 118.

Mr. Broderick Challenged.—On the 27th, Mr. D. W. Perley challenged Senator Broderick to a duel. The provocation was an alleged insult given at the International, San Francisco, being certain language addressed by the Senator to Perley, who had objected to a remark made by Mr. Gwin, of the Tennessee Court, made by Mr. Broderick not to Mr. Perley but to a third person. Perley first sent Mr. Broderick a challenge through a Mr. S. H. Brooks and afterwards through Col. E. J. C. Kewan. Mr. Broderick declined the challenge for reasons stated in a long letter addressed to Perley, from which we make the following extract:

Your own sense of propriety should have taught you that the positions we usually occupy are so different as to forbid my acceptance of your challenge. It is but a few days since you made oath that you were a subject of Great Britain. The giving or accepting a challenge could not, therefore, affect your rights, as you are not a citizen of the United States.

For many years, and up to the time of my elevation to the position I now occupy, it was well known that I would not have avoided any issue of the character proposed. If compelled to accept a challenge, I should only have to ask guidance, being a position equally elevated and responsible, and there are no circumstances which could induce me even to do this, during the pendency of the present canvass.

When I authorised the announcement that I would address the people of California during the campaign, it was suggested that efforts would be made to force me into difficulties, and I determined to take no notice of attacks from any source, during the canvass. If I were to accept your challenge, there are probably many other gentlemen who would seek similar opportunities for hostile meetings for the purpose of accomplishing a political object or to obtain public notoriety. I cannot afford at the present time to descend to a violation of the constitution and the State laws to subserve either their or your purposes.

Your efforts to give publicity to the fact that it was your intention to send me a challenge would justify me in giving a copy of this reply to the public. Circumstances will determine my course in this regard. D. C. BRODERICK.

Harmony Restored between Mr. McKibben and Mr. Cofroth.—The difficulties at Sacramento between those gentlemen, which led to the infliction of a blow by Mr. McKibben (a Representative in Congress), have been adjusted by the mutual friends of Hon. Chas. T. Botts and Chas. S. Fairfax, to whom the settlement of it was left by the friends of the parties.

[From the Alta, 20th.]

Rights of Passengers on Steamers.—We print this morning, an important opinion delivered yesterday, by Judge Hoffman, of the U. S. District Court, in the case of Harvey Sparks vs. the steamship Sonora. The opinion contains a clear statement of the law in regard to the construction of contracts for the conveyance of passengers on ocean steamers —a matter which has a peculiar interest for our large population, many of whom have travelled, and expect to travel, and occasionally have friends and relatives traveling on ocean steamers between New York and this port.

Mr. Sparks sued for an alleged violation of his contract on the part of the Pacific Mail Company, for not carrying him safely from Panama to this port. His ayers that he was put into a very warm state room, that a stove near his berth leaked, and made his room and birth so wet that his room was rendered uncomfortable by disagreeable odors, and, in consequence of all which these things he became afflicted with the Panama fever. He claimed $20,000 damages.

Judge Hoffman says that passengers going to sea must expect discomforts, but they have no special contract to made, they are entitled to such treatment and comforts as passengers usually enjoy at sea. In this case, he thinks it is not clearly proved that Mr. Sparks was troubled by any unhealthiness of his room; but it was proved that the room leaked, and was exceedingly warm, about 72 or 80 degrees warmer than the temperature of the atmosphere above here, and this great heat the Judge thinks such a discomfort, that he gives Mr. Sparks $500 damages, just the amount of the passage money.

The last Julia Carter of Philadelphia captured in San Francisco bay, and is a total loss.

By a fire in Grenville there were a loss of $20,000. The news from the mines are very favorable.

One of the papers has the following notice of the yield of a productive quartz deposit:

"The last weekly yield of the Allison quartz lead was $26,000. One thousand tons in all, net, over all the expenses—thus leaving the sum of $4,500 per day profit.

The Tehama Fire.—A dispatch from Tehama, dated June 28th, says: "At a preliminary examination of Jacob Levy, who was arrested on a charge of arson (causing the great fire at Tehama on Saturday last), his counsel waived the examination, and he was committed to answer the charge. His bail was fixed at $2,000, in default of which he was remanded to jail. It appears that, on the evening previous to the fire, he sold his stock in business, and, for various reasons, is believed to have set fire to his place, thereby destroying it and the town."

Later News from the North.—The steamer Pacific, from Victoria V. I., and Portland, Oregon, brought papers from the latter place to the 24th inst. The Portland bringe 190 passengers, and the following shipment of gold: Wells, Fargo, & Co., $45,000; Freeman & Co., $10,000.

The steamship companies have reduced the fare between Portland and San Francisco to $20 cabin, and $10 steerage.

FROM SALT LAKE CITY.—We have received a copy of the Valley Tan of the 29th ult., containing some items of interest, which we extract as follows:

Eighteen little children, from two to eight years old, the survivors of the Mountain Meadow massacre, left here on Tuesday for the States. The first arrangements came misplaced their transportation to the States with them, but Gov. Johnston kindly and promptly responded to the request of Mr. Forney, and has furnished for their accommodation, three spring ambulances and one baggage wagon, with teams of six mules each.

They will travel with and are under the protection of Capt. R. Ambrose, 2d dragoons, who is en route to Ft. Kearney with his command.

Mrs. Worley, Mrs. Nash, and two other ladies have been engaged as matrons to attend to the wants of the little ones, and three men also accompany the party as camp assistants.

John Calvin, Lewis, and Mary Sorrel (their father being held in remembrance as "Jo Sorrel"); Ambrose, Miram, and William Taggett; Charles and Amelia Francher; Betsey and Jane Baker; Rebecca, Louisa, and Sarah Ann Baker; Sophronia or Mary and Ephraim W. Huff. Angeline and Annie (surname unknown); and a little boy of whom there is no account, only that by which he was looked called him William. The children are supposed to have resided in the same neighborhood, and in Johnston county, Arkansas.

These children have been in charge of Dr. Forney since last fall, and we know that he has given his interested and personal supervision in order that they might be properly and comfortably cared for.

We learn, moreover, that Dr. Forney has obtained the guardianship of these children.

There was a large amount of property in the possession of the party massacred at the Mountain Meadows, and the children have now an agent here who will undoubtedly use his best endeavors to recover the property of which they have been despoiled.

In answer to a charge brought by a correspondent of a leading California paper that forcing measures had been used by the Governor and Secretary with regard to the Valley Tan, Mr. Hartnett writes to Mr. Adams, the new editor of that paper, as follows:

The Gentile Press, as termed—The Valley Tan—was never suppressed or coerced by me or Governor Cumming.

The materials brought to this city, Mr. Anderson having its entire control. To make matters short, I will answer in the only manner which an anonymous writer can be answered when he tells not the truth —that he utters falsehoods—that he is a liar. The origin of the transfer of the Valley Tan came through Mr. Anderson.

To reference to the correspondence from this place to the States, we are led to remark that, so far as we have seen, the tenor of the letters would edit the character of alarmists to the writers thereof, they make mountains of mole hills, and act on the principle of "penny-a-liners," who exaggerate every trivial item which comes to their ears, without reference to the credibility of its source, in order to give a fictitious interest to matters otherwise uninteresting.

THE YOUNG WIDOW ON A SLEIGH RIDE.—It is rummer now, but it was winter, clear and cold, and the snow was finely packed, when Dr. Meadows was one of a sleighing party, which he describes, so far as he and the young Widow Lambkin were concerned, in the following words:

The lively Widow Lambkin sat in the sleigh, under the same buffalo robe with me.

"Oh, oh! don't!" she exclaimed, as we came to the first bridge, at the same time catching me by the arm, and turning her veiled face toward me, while her little eyes twinkled through the moonlight.

"Don't what?" I asked. "I am not doing anything."

"Well, but I thought you were going to take toll," replied the Widow.

"Toll," I rejoined: "what's that?"

"Well, I declare!" cried the Widow; her clear laugh ringing out above the music of the bells, "you pretend you don't know what toll is!"

"Indeed, I don't, then," I said, laughing; "pray explain, if you please."

"You never heard, then," said the Widow, most provokingly, "you never heard that when we are on a sleigh-ride the gentlemen always, that is, sometimes, when they cross a bridge claim a kiss, and call it toll. But I never pay it."

I said that I had never heard of it before; but when we came to the next bridge I claimed the toll, and the Widow's struggles to hold the veil over her face were not enough to bar it. At last the veil was removed, her round, rosy face was turned directly toward mine, and in the clear light of a frosty moon the toll was taken, for the first time in his life, by Dr. Meadows. Soon we came to a long bridge with several arches; the Widow said it was no use to resist a man who could have his own way, so she paid the toll without a murmur.

"But you won't take toll for every arch, will you, Doctor?" the Widow said so archly, that I did not fail to exact all my dues, and to that was the beginning of the end of the rest. The Lambkin had the Meadows all to herself in the spring.

LADIES' SWIMMING SCHOOL IN PARIS.—Quarnier's Swimming School for Ladies opens in the month of May, and it is difficult to imagine a more novel or prettier scene than it presents on a warm afternoon. Neither at Cayley's nor at Lalli, in Paris, have I beheld so many beautiful faces as at this school; one reason, perhaps, being that many girls from ten to fifteen are visitors to the bath who are ordered by their age from sharing in public amusements.

The young ladies of the aristocratic Faubourg, St. Germain, the daughters of the wealthy "financiers," and the families attached to the Emperor, all meet here, with the same intention, namely, to swim; and all who are able gradual, race, and laugh in the water, forgetful of every care and heedless of consequences. The costume is generally of some dark material, gaily trimmed with red or blue worsted binding, which does not lose its color. The upper part of the dress is open in front, and displays a white pair of trousers. It is all in one, and a tunic is sewn to the waist and falls to the knee. Some of the girls go in without any kind of a head dress beyond their own fine hair neatly plaited; others wear nets of gay colors, or a slightly netted scarlet or blue scarf, neatly arranged.

A basin about 150 or 160 feet long, and about 25 feet broad, is surrounded by a board platform, enclosed by the dressing rooms and screened alike from the sun and the public observing by an awning stretched over all. The basin is so arranged that the powerful current of the heine rushes through it; it is, in fact, a large cage sunk to the required depth.

This part of the basin, which is from four to five feet deep, is crossed by a bridge, and the smaller portion thus indicated is used by those who wish to bathe only, or who are not sufficiently good swimmers to venture into the deep water. Half a pair horse large basin is the centre of attraction. At the end where the water is deepest flights of steps lead down for those who like to swim smoothly and quietly off; and at the opposite end a spring-board, to which is fixed a trapeze bar springs get hold of my death, for I want the impression to go abroad that I died a natural death." He wanted "Isaac to put him in the ground the same way Isaac." He stated in his letter that he died by his own hand, being tired of living.

A scrubbing and stabbing affray took place last evening, near six o'clock, on Royal street. The parties were two young Spaniards, named A. Ferrer and Rodriguez Rodriguez attacked Ferrer with a cowhide, and Ferrer drew a dagger and buried it nearly to the hilt in Rodriguez's back. The latter was carried to a neighboring drug store, where the wound was temporarily dressed, and then removed to his residence. His wife has believed to be dangerously hurt. Ferrer was arrested. The story was that an old quarrel had existed between the parties, and that Rodriguez undertook to cowhide Ferrer because he had refused to meet him in a duel.—N. O. Crescent.

Terrific Hail Storm at Germantown.—Yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, a terrific hail storm paid a visit to Germantown, doing considerable damage. Several buildings were blown down, and the hail stones, which were of unusual size compared to pigeons' eggs, destroyed a large number of panes of glass. The glass in the town hall windows was nearly all broken. Two men, named Smith and Hummell, at work on an unfinished building, were injured by rafters being blown upon them. Smith was reported to be seriously hurt, Hummell not dangerously. The storm was of short duration, but the wind blew a hurricane while it lasted.

Philadelphia Ledger, 21st.

FATHER AND SON DROWNED.—Yesterday, Mr. Hurd, of Wayland, aged 81, and his son, aged 51, were drowned in Sudbury river. In the morning they started from Wayland for the purpose of fishing. The son was subject to fits, and it is supposed that he was seized with one in the boat and fell overboard, and that his father, in attempting to save him, was drawn overboard, and thus both were drowded.—Boston Courier.

The Reported Mexican Treaty.—We are assured, on the best authority, that the report that our Minister to Mexico, Mr. McLane, had succeeded in effecting a definitive treaty arrangement with the Juarez Government is wholly without foundation. N. O. Picayune.

The blacksmith that went over Niagara Falls last Friday proves to have been a log figure prepared by some "smart" boys, for the purpose of a witless hoax.

MALT WINE.
M'KNIGHT'S MALT WINE.

THE Subscriber offers for consumption with any brand of Imported Ale his MALT WINE.

His confidence in the superiority of this superb extract of MALT, and the HOPS, warrants him in offering it to the afflicted with the utmost confidence that it will be found unequalled in its purifying qualities.

Its production is the result of 30 years' practical experience, combining the skilled operations of the most extensive breweries in the United States, combining all the latest improvements, adopted after a recent personal inspection of the British Breweries, with the express view of introducing a Standard American Malt Liquor.

It is a pure, dietetic beverage—a stomachic restorative and tonic—invigorating to the system—a delightful drink for invalids—unaffected by climate, and sold at a price beyond the reach of all competition.

For Analysis, Recommendations, and further particulars, address JOHN McKNIGHT, Brewer,

DR. LEROY'S MIXTURE FOR THE PROMPT AND CERTAIN CURE OF ALL URETHRAL AFFECTIONS, GONORRHŒA AND GLEET, IN BOTH SEXES SOLELY—TO THE PUBLIC.—Seventeen years' trial of the Mixture in an extensive practice in this city, and the unanimous voice of its powers and removed those prejudices which physicians as well as patients had entertained on account of the use of Copaiba, Cubebs, Injections, Gilbert Syrups, &c., &c., in curing the above diseases, and which rendered
